Product Description

Product features:

Traction system: The traction system of the tractor includes the traction seat, traction pin and traction control mechanism, which ensure the normal connection and operation of the tractor and the trailer.

Braking system: The braking system of the tractor not only controls its own brakes, but also transmits braking signals to the trailer through the pneumatic brake pipe to ensure the safe parking of the whole vehicle.

Travel system: The travel system of the tractor is designed as a special component to meet the requirements of heavy loads and different road conditions.

Product usage:

Transportation: used to transport heavy or large items, such as containers, heavy machinery, construction materials, etc.

Rescue: used to tow damaged vehicles in the event of traffic accidents or vehicle breakdowns.

Military: towing heavy equipment such as artillery and tanks to provide support for military operations.

Product advantages:

Intelligence and safety: Tractors integrate a variety of intelligent control systems, such as electronic stability program (ESC), forward collision warning (FCW) and lane departure warning (LDW) systems, which improve the driving safety of the vehicle.

Low maintenance cost: Due to the use of advanced technology and materials, the maintenance cost of the tractor is relatively low, and the durability and reliability are high.

Wide applicability: The tractor can adapt to different transportation needs, including general cargo transportation, cold chain logistics, dangerous goods transportation, etc., and has good market adaptability.
