Product Description

Dongfeng New Heavy Duty 10 Wheeler Trailer Head 6x4 420hp

Product features:

Electrical system: There will be an electrical connector at the rear of the tractor to transmit electrical signals to the trailer.

Stability and reliability: Due to the design of long wheelbase and low center of gravity, tractors are relatively stable and reliable during transportation.

Specialization: Tractors usually have no cargo compartment and are designed to provide traction, which can effectively tow trailers or semi-trailers.

Product usage:

Transportation: used to transport heavy or large items, such as containers, heavy machinery, construction materials, etc.

Rescue: used to tow damaged vehicles in the event of traffic accidents or vehicle breakdowns.

Military: towing heavy equipment such as artillery and tanks to provide support for military operations.

Product advantages:

Wide applicability: The tractor can adapt to different transportation needs, including general cargo transportation, cold chain logistics, dangerous goods transportation, etc., and has good market adaptability.

High efficiency: The design of the tractor optimizes the vehicle's aerodynamic performance and power transmission efficiency, and can achieve rapid transportation while ensuring safety, thereby improving transportation efficiency.

Strong traction and transportation capacity: Tractors are designed to pull trailers and usually have high traction and large load capacity, which are suitable for long-distance and large-volume cargo transportation.
