Product Description

Dongfeng 4x2 Refrigerated Truck Body 5 Ton Box Dimensions L x W x H mm 6800*2450*2600

Product features:

This refrigerated truck is equipped with a high-performance refrigeration unit, which can quickly reduce the temperature inside the compartment to the set value and maintain a stable low-temperature environment. The car body is made of high-quality thermal insulation materials, which has excellent thermal insulation performance and effectively prevents external heat from entering. The vehicle is also equipped with an intelligent temperature control system that can accurately adjust the temperature inside the vehicle to meet the refrigeration needs of different goods. In addition, the chassis of the refrigerated truck is sturdy and durable, with good load-bearing capacity and passability.

Product usage:

Mainly used to transport fresh fruits and vegetables, dairy products, meat, seafood and other perishable foods to ensure their quality and safety during transportation. At the same time, it is also suitable for the pharmaceutical industry to transport temperature-sensitive drugs such as vaccines, biological products, and blood products. In the flower industry, the freshness and quality of flowers can be guaranteed.

Product advantages:

Powerful refrigeration capacity and excellent thermal insulation effect, maximizing the shelf life of goods. The intelligent temperature control system accurately controls the temperature to ensure the quality of goods. The sturdy chassis adapts to various road conditions and improves transportation reliability. The vehicle has good fuel economy and reduces operating costs. The after-sales service is perfect and responds promptly to repair and maintenance needs. In addition, the interior design of the car body is reasonable, which facilitates cargo loading, unloading and organization, and improves work efficiency.
