Product Description

2024 Type 380hp Howo Sinotruck 10 Tires 6x4 Tipping Dump Truck For Driving Type 6x4

Product features:

Advanced configuration. HOWO NX380 is equipped with a number of advanced configurations, such as automatic transmission, air conditioning system, ABS anti-lock braking system, ESP body stability system, etc., which improves the driving convenience and safety of the vehicle. In addition, some high-end models may also be equipped with intelligent driving assistance systems, such as lane departure warning, blind spot monitoring, etc., which further improve driving safety.

Product usage:

Engineering construction. In the field of engineering construction, the HOWO NX380 can also play an important role. Its powerful power system and sturdy body structure enable the vehicle to easily cope with various complex working conditions, such as earthwork transportation, construction material distribution, etc. At the same time, the vehicle's high passability and good off-road performance also make it perform well in complex terrains such as mountainous areas and construction sites.

Product advantages:

It has certain price advantages and can meet customers' pursuit of cost-effectiveness. At the same time, its excellent power performance, load-bearing capacity and durability also make the vehicle have higher economic benefits during use.
