Product Description

Hot Sale 2024 Good Sinotruk Light Tractor Truck Dongfeng Commercial 4x2 Tractor Truck

Product features:

Electrical system: There will be an electrical connector at the rear of the tractor to transmit electrical signals to the trailer.

Structural features: The frame of the tractor is shorter than that of an ordinary truck, but it is wider and thicker to increase load and safety. A traction saddle is installed on the frame for connecting a semi-trailer. The suspension system of the tractor may adopt independent suspension or leaf springs to adapt to different transportation needs.

Driving experience: Tractors are usually equipped with spacious and comfortable cabs, providing a good driving experience, especially suitable for long-distance driving.

Product advantages:

The DFH4250CX17 semi-trailer tractor stands out with several remarkable advantages. Firstly, it is equipped with a powerful and efficient engine that delivers exceptional performance. This enables it to handle various terrains and heavy loads with ease, ensuring smooth and reliable transportation. Secondly, the vehicle is designed with advanced fuel-saving technology, significantly reducing operating costs and enhancing its economic efficiency. Additionally, its comfortable and ergonomic cab provides a pleasant driving experience for the driver, reducing fatigue during long journeys. The safety features are also top-notch, including reliable braking systems and advanced stability control, ensuring the safety of both the driver and the cargo.

Product usage:

Long-Distance Freight Transportation

The DFH4250CX17 is ideal for long-haul freight transportation. Its powerful engine and excellent fuel economy make it capable of covering vast distances without frequent refueling. This ensures that goods reach their destinations on time and in good condition, meeting the demands of the modern logistics industry.

Construction Material Hauling

In the construction sector, this tractor can efficiently haul heavy loads of construction materials such as steel, concrete, and lumber. Its robust design and strong towing capacity make it suitable for the challenging job sites and rough terrains often encountered in this industry.

Refrigerated Transport

For transporting perishable goods that require controlled temperatures, the DFH4250CX17 can be paired with refrigerated trailers. Its stable performance and reliable power supply ensure that the refrigeration units operate consistently, maintaining the quality and freshness of the cargo.

Hazardous Materials Transport

When it comes to transporting hazardous materials, safety is of utmost importance. The DFH4250CX17 is equipped with safety features and meets strict regulatory standards to ensure the secure transportation of dangerous substances, minimizing risks and protecting the environment and public safety.
