Product Description

Product features:

The main structure is made of high-strength alloy steel, which has excellent resistance to pressure and corrosion, ensuring long-term stable use.

Equipped with intelligent automatic compression system, which can automatically adjust the compression force according to the amount of rubbish, high efficiency and energy saving.

The mobile chassis is compactly designed, with tracked or heavy-duty tyre structure, adapting to a variety of complex terrain, such as rugged mountain roads and muddy trails.

It has a sealed rubbish storage bin with advanced deodorisation device to prevent odour leakage.

Product usage:

Commonly used in remote mountainous villages to collect and dispose of residents' daily rubbish and improve rural environmental hygiene.

In construction sites, centralised storage of construction waste, convenient for subsequent classification and removal.

Applicable to tourist attractions, timely clean up the rubbish discarded by tourists, to maintain the beauty of the scenic area.

Product advantages:

High-strength material significantly reduces equipment loss, reduces maintenance costs and extends service life.

Intelligent compression system improves rubbish disposal efficiency, reduces energy consumption and saves operating expenses.

Flexible mobile chassis can penetrate into all kinds of hard-to-reach areas, expanding the scope of rubbish collection.

Excellent sealing and deodorising effect avoids environmental pollution and improves the satisfaction of residents and tourists in the neighbourhood.
