Product Description

Waxing in Bulk ship, Roro ship, Container

Product features:

Adopting the National VI emission standard engine, the emission of pollutants is greatly reduced, which meets the environmental protection requirements and reduces the pollution of the mining environment.

Installed tail gas purification system, further reducing the harmful substance content in the tail gas, protecting the ecological environment of the mine.

Equipped with intelligent fuel-saving system, which automatically adjusts the engine output power according to the vehicle's driving status and load, reducing fuel consumption.

Product usage:

Applicable to mines with high requirements for environmental protection, such as mines located around nature reserves, to protect the environment while safeguarding production.

Used in mines around cities to reduce the impact on urban air quality and meet urban environmental protection needs.

In the green mine construction project, it is used as environmental protection transportation equipment to help mines realize sustainable development.

Product advantages:

Environmentally friendly engine and exhaust gas purification system reduces pollution to the mine and the surrounding environment, meeting the development trend of environmental protection.

Intelligent fuel-saving system reduces fuel consumption, saves operating costs and improves the economic efficiency of the enterprise.

Meet the requirements of environmental protection, establish a good social image for mining enterprises, and promote the sustainable development of enterprises.
